

QUICK RULES REFERENCE SHEET:

The ABA plays by National High School Federation Rules with the following modifications:

Time Limits	Only Varsity is under a 2.5 hour time limit before tie breaker starts. 7 innings or 2.5 hours whatever comes first.	Premier and Prospect have no time limit unless inclement weather.
Tiebreakers / Extra Innings	Premier, straight up. Prospect+Varsity bases load 1 out.
Run Rules	15 after 3. 12 after 4. 10 after 5 innings. All divisions.
Courtesy runners	Premier = None permitted	All other divisions - last batted out for P or C.
Batting lineup max	Premier = 10, Prospect = 11, Varsity, JV, MS = 12
Re-entry	Premier = No re-entry.	HS rule, players in the starting lineup, may re-enter once. Players that start on the bench may only enter the game, They can not re-enter. If they start on the bench and enter the game and then get subbed out, they can no longer courtesy run or anything.
3B to 1B Pickoff Move	Not permitted.
Mound visits	3 per game max. You can take all 3 visits whenever you want to take them. Same inning. A pitcher sub does not count as a visit. Catcher and position player visits do NOT count as a visit. You do not need to remove a pitcher on the 2nd or 3rd visit of the same inning as long as you have your 3 visits.
HBP's	HS Rules. Essentially: You can roll into a pitch as long as you arent over the plate.
Balks Live	Yes
EH	Can freely substitute any position on the diamond and "roam"

Other teams in org in the dugout	Players from other teams in the same organization are permitted in the dugout during games, provided they are in full uniform and follow these rules: • Stay in the dugout. No movement onto the field, fence line, or stands during play. • Direct all energy toward your own team. Cheers, chants, and encouragement must be aimed at supporting teammates or neutral game chants — not at opposing players, coaches, or umpires. • Keep it in good faith. No obscenities, no taunting, no targeting opposing players with chants or verbiage. Violations result in the entire team being removed from the dugout for the remainder of the game. Repeat violations may result in tier-based ejection penalties.
Player ejections	Disciplinary action is based on a Tier System. Umpires submit post game ejection reports to the league. See below.
Tier 1 Red (That game + 2 addtl game suspension)	Tier 2 (That game + 1 addtl game suspension)	Tier 3 (That game only)
Fighting, shoving or physical altercation with intent to harm. Umpire deeming the player intentionally threw at a batter / escalation after a warning was issued and game temperature was high.	Egregious Dirty play / Ignoring of warnings. Over the top collision, blatant spikes up sliding, over the top, ongoing emotional outbursts lasting longer than a quick shout that are embarrassing to the league. A player who was officially WARNED to stop a particular action (such as bench jockeying) and continued to do so.	Quick verbal shouts. Heat of the moment F bombs, quick umpire triggers without warnings, arguing balls and strikes, saying something walking back to dugout, bench jockeying ejection without warning.)
Coach Ejections	1st ejection in a season = No fine 2nd ejection in a season = $100 fine + 1 game suspension. Fine to be paid in full before the next game coached. 3rd ejection in a season = $500 fine + 3 game suspension. Fine to be paid in full before the next game coached.

Ejections & Automatic Suspensions (Doubleheaders)

~~Any player or coach ejected in the first game of a doubleheader will be automatically suspended for the second game of that doubleheader when the same umpiring crew is assigned to both games. Not happening for the playoffs.~~

~~This rule is intended to maintain order, consistency, and professionalism throughout doubleheader play and de-escalate. As such, ejections in Game 1 carry an immediate competitive consequence in Game 2 unless a different umpiring crew is assigned.~~

Limited Exception (Players Only):

In the rare circumstance that a player (not a coach) is ejected in the first game of a doubleheader for a Tier 1 or Tier 2 infraction, and verified cross-checkers or General Managers from Major League organizations are present specifically to evaluate that player, the league may allow the player to participate in the second game at its discretion.

- This exception applies only to players
- Coaches are never eligible for this exception
- The decision rests solely with the league and is not automatic
- The intent is to avoid materially impacting a player's recruiting or professional evaluation opportunity in exceptional situations

All other ejections will be enforced strictly per league policy.

Roster and Floater Deadlines
Definition: Floaters are players that can be listed on multiple rosters in adjacent divisions. Adjacent means Premier and Prospect. Prospect and Varsity. Varsity and JV. JV and Middle School.
Floaters must be declared by the following deadlines and must remain a floater until the next deadline when you can submit a new list. Each roster deadline allows you to move players within your organization to new rosters and declare new floaters.
FEB 20 at 5:00PM	7 floaters max
MAR 1 at 5:00PM	Extended Final ABA Roster deadline
MAR 30 at 5:00PM	6 floaters max
MAY 7 at 5:00PM	5 floaters max
